Leon,

Rapid Development Services, Inc has provided 3 different automatic robotic pick and place machines that have been in use at Pohlman, Inc for over 10 years. The machinery has operated without any service needed by RDS. This technology helped us to get our products into mass production with a competitive advantage.

The flexibility of 6-axis robotic technology, that RDS introduced us to for the first time, allows us to produce an array of products on the same equipment while maintaining a high quality product. We have relied on this equipment that RDS has developed to continue serving our customers.

We look to forward to working with RDS in the future.

Sincerely,

Hank Studt
